

ARNI'S FRANKFORT

Following on the tradition of other Arni's restaurants, Dave Klippel opened up this bustling enterprise on the square in Frankfort, Indiana five years ago. At the time, he selected a Micros system from a company in Mishawauka, Indiana also called CRS. Recently, CRS in Indy replaced the Micros terminals with Posiflex and the operation is running smoothly. Dave has his Posiflex terminals connected to Epson printers and a remote kitchen printer.

"I really love the Maitre'D system software and it works extremely well in our operation. Everything from splitting checks to employee timekeeping is very functional."

"The recent replacement of the "very slow" Micros terminals with the new Posiflex (15" screen) terminals is almost like night and day in terms of speed."

"I was originally sold Maitre'D running on Micros terminals by the other CRS out of Mishawauka. Even though the company you represent is also CRS, there is a world of difference in attitude if not company name"

"The smoothness of recording customer sales allows our servers to spend more time waiting on customers and less time figuring out some complicated procedure."

I would gladly discuss my experience with both vendors and both hardware products. As far as I am concerned, any new restaurant developments that I pursue will have the very efficient combination of Maitre'D, Posiflex and CRS (Indy)" David Klippel—owner
